Chorus Molto espressivo

Wait un - til I see that gold - en shore, Wait, and I will love thee

as be - fore, There, where an - gels sing of peace and love,

There, where all is joy in realms a - bove; Wait, un - til that brightest light I see, Wait, my an - gel love, for me.

“Lucy, I Loves You All de Time”

A quaintly sweet and pretty darkey love ballad. Liked by all who sing or hear it. Positively pretty.

“When You Love”

A waltz song equal to the best. Music bright and tuneful. A singable song.

“It Takes a Darkey To Have a Good Time”

One of the best coon songs on the market. Clever idea. Well worked out.

“Rich Man, Poor Man, Beggarman Chief”

Or the story of the buttons. A song reminder of the happy days of childhood.

“Just Dry Away Your Tears”

A touch of pathos. Full of heart interest. Its simplicity and sweetness evident to all who hear this song.

“When Sousa Leads The Band”

One of the greatest march songs written. The music is as inspiring as if written by the great march king himself.

“Tomorrow”

One of the best single word title songs. As sweet a melody as was ever conceived. A pretty idea woven 'round the story so often told by lovers.

“Something That Money Can't Buy”

A dramatic story in song.
Beautiful and descriptive.

“In Naples Fair”

A STORY of Italy. Music of the Neapolitan style. A worthy successor to “In Old Madrid.” Price, 50c

“You're Getting Kind of Distant In Your Way”

O RIGINAL in conception; unique, simple; beautiful words and music. Price, 50c

“She's a Princess Just the Same”

W RITTEN in the genial vein of Horwitz & Bowers best waltz songs. Will be whistled and sung everywhere.
